

positive behaviour support

Our Positive Behaviour Support (PBS) services are designed to create meaningful change and improve quality of life. At the heart of our approach is collaboration, we work together with parents, children, and family members to achieve positive outcomes.

What is Positive Behaviour Support (PBS)?

Positive Behaviour Support (PBS) provides support for individuals who are displaying behaviours that cause concern or challenges to themselves or the people around them.

Understand Behaviour of Concern

Our team of registered Positive Behaviour Support Practitioners specialise in supporting autistic children. We view behaviour as a form of communication and seek to understand it from multiple perspectives. By working closely with the child, their family, and their broader support network, we develop personalised goals that drive meaningful change.

Through evidence-based strategies, our practitioners aim to reduce behaviours of concern while improving social, emotional and daily living skills. We empower individuals by fostering independence and building skills that enhance their quality of life.

Our PBS Services include:

- Conducting Functional Behaviour Assessments to understand behaviours of concern.
- Reviewing data, monitoring trends, and aligning strategies with client goals.
- Developing, implementing, and reviewing Interim and Comprehensive Behaviour Support Plans.
- Preparing for NDIS review meetings to ensure seamless support.
- Educating and empowering clients and their support networks.
- Providing training for service providers implementing the PBS plan.
- Collaborating with allied health professionals such as speech pathologists, occupational therapists, and physiotherapists to deliver holistic support.
